

1st July 2010

Run Number 152
Starting at Town Crier, Chester Station

The Pack: Carthief; Snoozanne; ET; Mad Hatter; OTT; Alternative Entrance; Overdrive (Hare); Cleopatra (not strictly a Hare but spent a long time preparing to feed the Pack (with her one good knee ( the other one was not naughty but is recovering well)) so does that count?); Auntie Cyclone; Hansel; 10"; Christian; Carlotta.

Gathering at the start with Hansel's latest (only?) recruits the introductions were made and Hash names explained. Carlotta immediately challenged the Pack "I bet I get a Hash name quickly". Can we rise to the challenge? (Of course quickly means different things to different Hashers – just compare the FRBs to the SRBs!)

The usual pavement artistry from Overdrive

And the Hare lit the blue touch paper

An impressive display down to the canal

And past The Old Harkers Arms

Until OTT appeared to lose her arm and Auntie Cyclone and Snoozanne hurt their backs

It was not long before the first was spotted

And some flagging

Whilst others caught up

At the next Check Christian took a breather (notice how long!) ET catching him up

A remarkable photo of all Hashers running (sorry for the out of focus but was of necessity a hurried shot)

This was quickly followed by the more normal pace

And then Overdrive's pièce de résistance

ET shows the way

OTT lives up to her Hash name

Although Hansel looks appalled at the potential damage she was inflicting on her more delicate parts.

Whilst he kept his well out of harms way

After that Carlotta showed off her running style and ability to follow an arrow.

Several dual carriageway crossings later we were nearly outfoxed by a narrow hidden pathway

Into

And an interesting exit ... ..

With 10" (leaping over), Auntie Cyclone (clambering over), Snoozanne and Christian (going around) showing variable degrees of sensibleness for navigating a low fence

A short run through the houses to the

Cleopatra had been busy and the beer stop

produced the gardening admirers with Overdrive pointing out his vegetable patch successes.

But as with all beer stops they have to end and we made our way outside and a gentle run in via a

Back at the cars a circle attempted to form itself (in the carpark entrance (of course))

But the Hare directed the Pack sans transport to cadge a lift back to the aroma of Cleopatra's cooking.

The circle was called by the RA but Snoozanne opened the proceeding by presenting the 4th wedding anniversary couple with a tea towel listing the UK version of gifts for the various wedding anniversaries. The other gift was a banana which Overdrive thought Cleopatra might have more use for than him.

Confusion about the camera settings (no flash) meant that the presentation photos were not of a high enough quality ("Quality?!" do I hear you squeal?) for this august publication.

The happy couple were then called up again as Hare and Co-Hare

Auntie Cyclone for his pitstop (He is wiping away the rain (I think))

The Virgins Carlotta and Christian (Hansel had made them come)

Property losses

Carthief handed in BBQ sticks and a MTH3 No. 1 T-shirt. He was promptly accused of stealing the BBQ sticks and a study of the T-shirt (size and names on it) and OTT was found out

Returnees

Alternative Entrance, 10", Auntie Cyclone, Hansel, Cleopatra

There followed an enthusiastic enjoyment of Cleopatra's food.
