Run Number 241
White Star - Liverpool

Pack 10" Cleopatra, Overdrive, Chico, ET

Summer in the city - perfect setting for a hash. Drinkers and shoppers were out in force casting many inquisitive looks towards our little group.

The 'Stars and Stripes' theme was an elaborate word game instigated by 10". Best not to go into the intricate regulations of this puzzle in order to retain the readership of this trash. Basically there were different coloured checks next to items which you would associate with either 'Stars' and 'Stripes'. The resulting spelling was 'Oliver Stone'. Certainly was a game you would imagine a mathematician may set.

Victoria monument

Set off from The White Star towards the river before double backing through Liverpool shopping mecca. Handbag shop being too much of a distraction for some.

Water feature - L1

Big city bright lights.

With a smaller pack it took longer to establish the correct route trails - Prompts were given by the hare on several occasions once he had had his fun. The original run was slightly curtailed to allow for the sufficient drinking at the end.

Well Hello

Testing markings

Ran around the rather sorry looking Royal Mail building before jogging through Lime Street Station. Then on back to the back of the town hall for the Down Downs.

Beers were produced by the hare and ready made vegetarian egg and cheese rolls from ET.

Smug looking hare

Catching the last golden rays of the day

Observations were made as to the symbolism of the Nelson statue which sits on the courtyard behind the town hall. Nelson looks a bit too much like a body builder. The other rather morbid characters featured in this statue certainly subdued the mood of the pack whilst munching through their sandwiches and beer.

Proof that ET was also on run

Sure that Hashers would make an interesting case study

Down downs

The hare

Cleo for wearing an American themed hat for the duration of the run

Overdrive for having an American themed hat but not wearing it for the duration of the run.

ET and Chico for impromptu toilet stops - In a city centre with no parks crowded with late night shoppers - not a mean achievement .

We retired to the Lion instead of the start off point - White Star. As if was closer, better beer, Very handy for the station and is a tried and tested 'Hash Pub'.

Cleo and Chico spent most of the time in the pub exchanging tales of knee surgery prior to comparing resulting scaring - Knees being exposed on such a lovely warm evening brought this subject to the forefront. Overdrive and Cleo pushed their departure time further and further back as the evening progressed until they plumped on the last train.
