

ERSEY THIRSTDAYS HASH HOUSE HARRIERS

1st May 2014

Run Number 265

Waterloo Beer Festival

The Pack: Carthief; Cleopatra; Chico, 10", FCUK, Sprog; Ménage à twat (Hare)

Meeting up at Blundellsands and Crosby Station the Hare announced that he would be live haring the trail and ran off before the Hash Flash.

Seeing as we all had tickets to the Waterloo Beer Festival we reckoned that the trail would be fairly straightforward but that supposition ignored our Hare's deviousness, and having given him the 10 minutes he asked for (there was a lively discussion between 10" and Sprog as to exactly what constituted 10 minutes (there was a discrepancy of 34 seconds between them)) and not even cheating by seeing which direction he had taken, the Pack eventually found trail down towards the sea

Several pairs of running shoes were worn out looking for the trail which was eventually found going in the opposite direction to the beer and then into the dunes.

Onto the beach and there was then a look-alike competition between the two brown skinned hashers

And a more formal Hash Flash

Searching the beach and the dunes took a while and we drifted towards the church looking for trail. A quick call to the Hare told us to look for trail outside the SS Titanic captain's house and Chico and Sprog's local knowledge took us there.

Back on trail and there were more Checks and changes of direction before we reached the the Hare, the church and the beer festival in that order.

Your scribe walked back to the car whilst the others started sampling some of the 200 beers.

Chico volunteered to record the enjoyment
