

Coronavirus Virtual "Run" Number 430

30th April 2020

Living rooms across Merseyside, North Wales, Grantham, Julich

The Pack: Overdrive and Cleo (Hares), Compo, Snoozanne, Mad Hatter, Eccles, 10secs, Brookside, SMS, Grasshopper, fcuk, OTT, Hansel, Carthief, Austin Powers, Hovercrap, Victim, JSL, Sticky Rice, UTT, Room Service.

Another large turnout and a couple of welcome returnees in the shape of UTT and Room Service.

There were the usual comments on people's activities, choice of beer and personal appearance. Victim was especially singled out for lurking suspiciously in the shadows...

...and so shortly appeared in the full glare of daylight though this only made his lack of Hash T-shirt more apparent.

This week's "run" took the form of a quiz; Overdrive had circulated the "Picture Round" beforehand, so we opened proceedings by discussing the answers (see below). The pictorial versions of hash names were fiendishly ingenious in many cases. Overdrive then turned to the main part of the quiz. The first round was a Music Round, using the term very loosely as the Hare himself admitted. There were renditions of Hash Hymns, some by the Hares themselves, with words omitted which we had to identify. There followed a Trivia Round (see later for questions plus answers). These caused a fair amount of healthy debate. Some maintained that MTH3 had never run to Hilbre since the Midsummer Run was always taken at a leisurely dawdle; and the true total when revealed was surprisingly high. Then various runs were recalled with large numbers of Hares, eg the cross-Mersey Austin Powers farewell hash. People recalled a pink T-shirt for Penny Lane's farewell hash, and a couple of examples were indeed produced, including this one as modelled by Carthief; and there was the one which was handcrafted by RTfuct with a spray-can, for which there was also photographic evidence. And finally there were other Wirral Line stations which no-one could recall a run starting from (Leasowe? Green Lane?) but the Hares had done their research and evidence was produced.

Around this time the first Zoom session ran out;

and we reconvened a few minutes later (and everyone seemed to find their way back this time, though fcuk has clearly not yet made it, and there were comments that maybe he was “mashing potatoes” as it’s called in his family). Overdrive was prevailed upon to take on RA duties yet again. Down downs were awarded to Eccles: for getting another suspiciously high score in the quiz.

Returnees: UTT, Room Service, Cleo, Overdrive, Sticky Rice, Hovercrap, JSL

Hoarders of PPE: SMS, Grasshopper, Mad Hatter, Snoozanne, Carthief, had been storing the Hash bedpans.

No Hash Gear: Hovercrap, Room Service, Victim, Sticky Rice.

CarThief: Wearing his MTH3 cagoule indoors

At this point Snoozanne interjected to say that she had passed the 300th Run milestone a couple of weeks ago and no-one had noticed and where was her personalised cagoule...

Finally someone noticed that modesty had forbidden the Hare to nominate himself and Cleo for a down-down, so it was duly done.

It was now nearly time for the Thursday night clap, so everyone waved goodbye (fcuk only just having reappeared...). Though either OTT has made Hansel stand in the corner for some domestic misdemeanour, or his beer has already run out.
