In the initial moments before Snoozanne appeared, someone asked Brookside if she was around, and he said yes. When someone else asked how he knew, he said he had seen her knickers online. Or was it on the line. Either possibility seems faintly disturbing and raises more questions than it answers... When she finally appeared, Snoozanne apologised for Mad Hatter being away; it was suggested that really he was lying under her chair and being used as a footrest. ET was quizzed about when last week's trash would appear; there seemed some risk of it being overtaken by this week's. When someone said how eager they were to read it, someone else said rather woundingly that everyone knew people only read it to see themselves mentioned. Snoozanne was asked why her Zoom name appeared as Sus Anne. She said she thought that it had to spread over two text boxes, and that she could not change it then and there because she was using a tablet. "I can't cope without the tablets" she said despairingly. At some point there was a loud flushing sound. Victim claimed responsibility and said it was due to having "Star Trek: Next Generation" on in the background; another statement which didn't really clear matters up.

It was noted that various pack members were flagrantly failing to wear hash attire, e.g. Victim, Brookside, OTT, ET.

Eventually the quiz got started, after a slight glitch during which Compo had shared his quiz with himself and his directory list with the rest of us. The quiz was on the theme of “Hash Geography”. Most people soon saw the pattern in the answers to Round 1. There was a comment that the Hare had “South Georgia on his mind”. While people were ruminating on the question about Captain Cook, Austin Powers was heard to comment that he had circumcised the island with a 50ft clipper. Round 2 was a little harder; we had to identify the country in which various hashes were located.

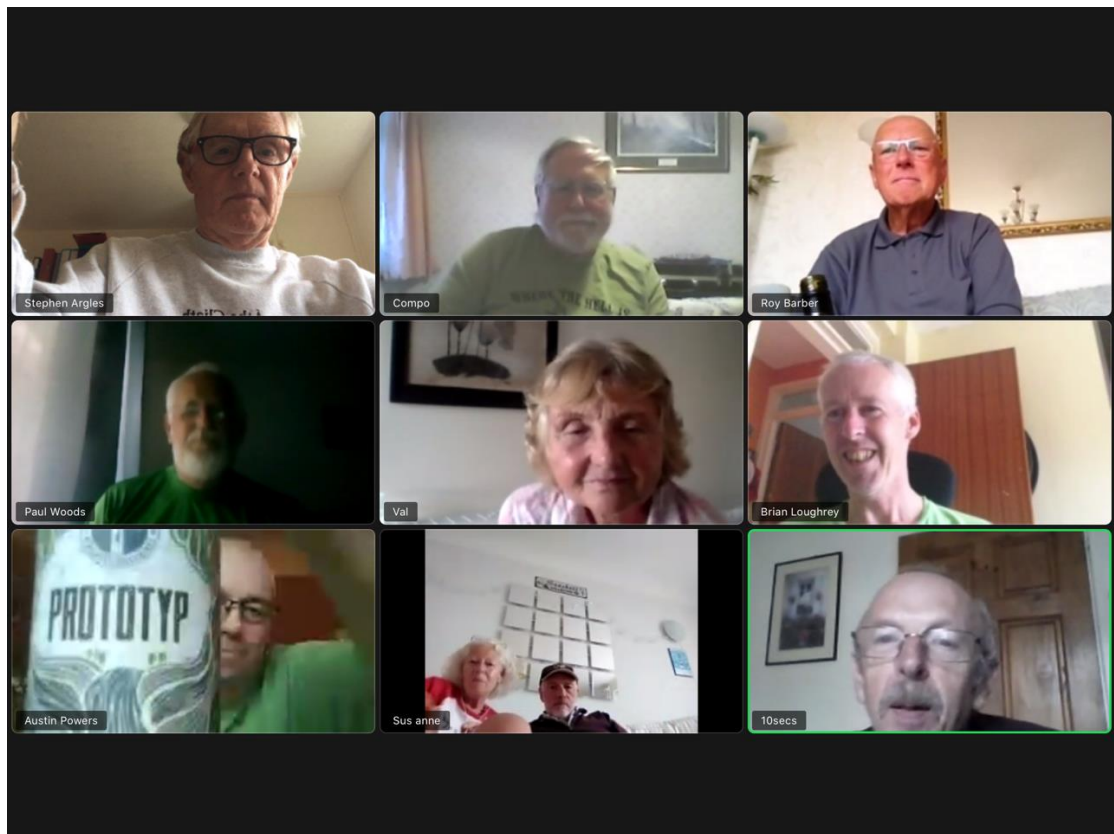

It was decided that we would replenish our glasses and then go through the answers during the next Zoom session.

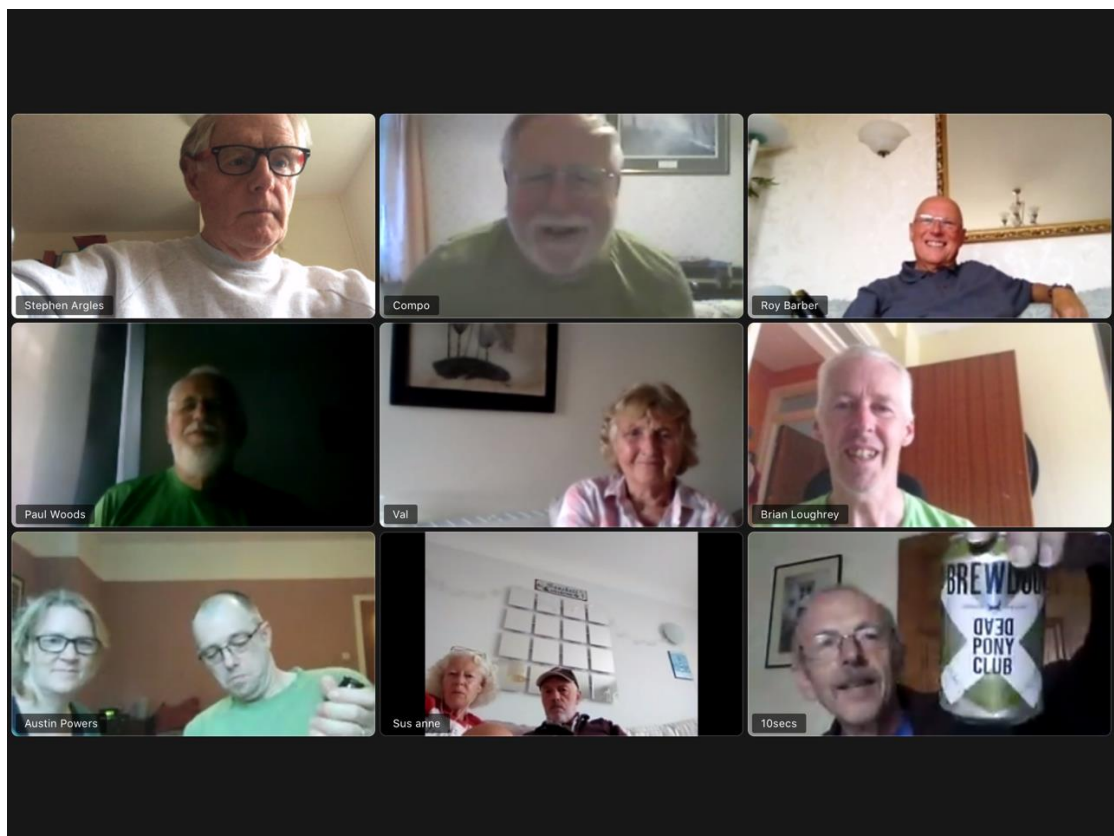

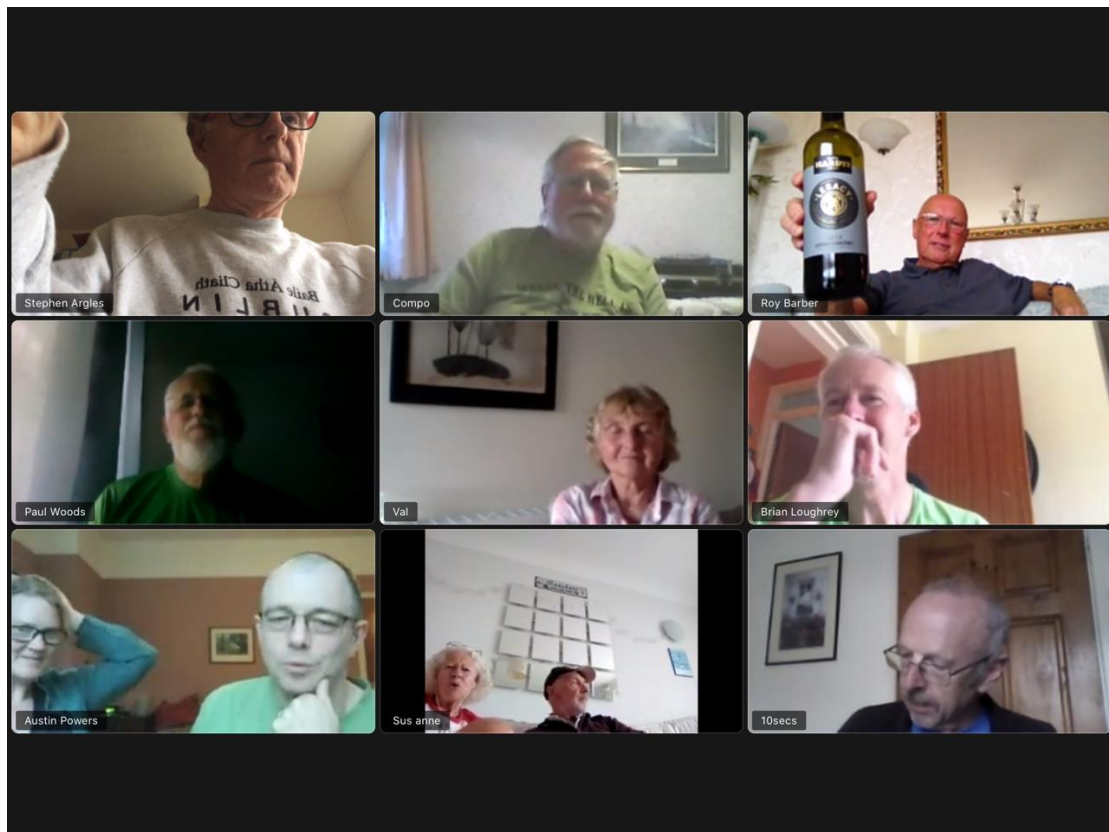

Compo refused to readmit Snoozanne and 10secs for ages when the Zoom call resumed. When they finally got back in, Mad Hatter had reappeared, presumably released from under Snoozanne's stiletto heels; though Snoozanne said he would only be there in body rather than spirit since he was watching the Everton match. At this point Austin Powers was proudly displaying his collection of miniature wheelie bins, one from Liverpool and one from Julich; apparently offering to replace OTT's, which had been stolen.

The answers to the first quiz were all "South Georgia", in homage to Snoozanne's insistence a couple of weeks back that South Georgia was a country in Africa. After all the answers had been read out, Victim was heard to ask "Sorry, I didn't catch the answer to Question 3?" There was widespread merriment at this clever joke, followed by Victim saying again "No really, what was the answer to Question 3?" Possibly it was at this point that Compo attempted to play the South Georgia Whaling Dong. Fortunately there was a slight technical hitch and we were unable to hear anything; even the musician was reduced to a ghostly outline on the screen. The answers to Round 2 were less predictable and sometimes quite non-intuitive. When the scores were announced, OTT was a surprise winner (one of the few solo victors?) with 16.5; while it was no surprise that Victim romped home with the wooden spoon, with 6.5 points.

fcuk then called us to order for the circle. He commended the Hare for a quiz which was yet again novel and this time had the self-reflexive South Georgia theme. He repeated AP's clipper joke which had possibly not been noticed by everyone. AP disclaimed responsibility for originating the joke. He then called out Snoozanne for being a part-time dominatrix with Mad Hatter under her heel. She was also commended for her combination of continuity and development, having started the quiz as "Sus Anne", appeared as "Snoozanne" during it (having switched from her tablet to her phone) and then reverted to Snoozanne. Victim was given a down-down for his flushing explanation and his wooden spoon award; and finally OTT was given the Dr No award for being spotted with a white cat, though she wasn't heard to say "I've been expecting you, Mr Bond..."

After the communal down-downs, we had the traditional comparison of beverages. AP was drinking a local supermarket beer called “Prototyp”. OTT had a G&T. ET and CT were both on water. Snoozanne had a cider called “Stargazer”. Victim and 10 secs were both drinking Brew Dog’s wares – 10secs’ “Dead Pony Club” provoked some questions about its smell. Brookside was drinking an “Ozzie Red2, Hardy’s Legacy. He said the bottle was nearly empty but his excuse, if that’s the word, was that he’d been drinking it since 2pm. Finally, Compo was drinking Doom Bar. Someone said that was appropriate though Cornwall is not especially near South Georgia...

After a bit of HareRazing by Victim we said our farewells.
