

Run Number 524

11th May 2023

The Augustus John, Liverpool

The Pack: Snoozanne(Hare), Mad Hatter(Hare), 10secs, fcuk, ET, BS, OTT, Peter Pong, Victim, Wigan Pier, PA

This was the AGM run and so was in the time-honoured spot for the occasion. Some of us started the evening off with a pint in the AJ. fcuk turned to 10 secs with the classic line "Do you come here often?" and then followed up by asking if he had spent much time in there looking up at the ceiling. The words "How very dare you!" were on 10secs' lips but then fcuk explained that he was trying to figure out if the huge display of beer mats covering both the ceiling and much of the walls had only appeared recently. We then started to head outside but fcuk called out to Mad Hatter asking if he had left his phone behind; MH took a good deal of convincing that the phone in fcuk's hand was indeed his. Snoozanne then explained that it would be a short run with several regroupes which would get us in the mood for the meeting. Each one would be labelled with a job description which would link to the location in some way. This was an extension of the last run when there had also been a "jobbie" at many of the regroupes... The first one (i.e. regroup) was found almost immediately and was labelled "HS". When Snoozanne pointed out that we were outside the Mathematics building, we began to get the idea. The trail then led across the campus, through "Abbacrombie Square" as it was currently relabelled for the Eurovision celebrations, down Myrtle Street and then Falkner Street to emerge by the Suitcases.

A regroup here is always pretty much compulsory but now it was labelled with "HC". Snoozanne explained that the Hares had not found a bank to run past and so this was a reference to escaping with the ill-gotten gains.

The trail now led along Hope Street and then down Canning Street and into the cathedral forecourt.

Here it led down into St James's Gardens...

...where a regroup was found, labelled RA, very appropriately with the cathedral looming up behind.

From here the trail led along Rodney Street to the corner of Hardman Street where there was a regroup labelled HR. We gathered here, creating a bit of a blockage for bemused tourists who probably thought we were some kind of bizarre installation to celebrate Eurovision. Coincidentally, there was an advert for a cosmetic firm on the wall listing Hair Removal as one of its services, but Snoozanne admitted that the hares hadn't spotted this, but were just sure there must be a barber's somewhere nearby.

The next regroup was on Hope Street and labelled “GM”. We guessed that the adjacent building must have been a Masonic Lodge and BS confirmed that indeed it had been, and showed us a plaque in the entrance hall which confirmed this. This led to lots of speculation as to how she knew this inside information.

From there it was straight back to the Peach Street carpark. We soon had the food out of MH and Snoozanne’s car and deployed on a table. There was a wide variety on offer – Coronation chicken, a large pie, mini-pasties, egg mayonnaise and an excellent home-made cake.

The RA called the circle and downdowns were awarded to:

The hares

fcuk: for propositioning 10secs

Mad Hatter: for lost property, namely the forgotten phone

Snoozanne: Specsavers award for looking for and calling for ET when he was only 2 metres away. She asked for another offence to be taken into consideration, namely spending several days with left and right contact lenses swapped round

BS: for her surprising level of Masonic initiation

We then repaired to the AJ, which was almost empty at first but seemed to fill up with shouting students by the time we started the meeting. Peter Pong reported on Hash Stats; it seemed that Snoozanne was the no-lifer with both more runs and more hares to her credit than anyone else.

Snoozanne reported on Hash Cash; there seemed to be a healthy balance with about £700 in the kitty. It was voted to use some for both the accommodation and food costs on the summer's Snowdonia weekend. The hash subs was agreed to remain at £2. We then discussed the major jobs, which were distributed as follows:

GM: Mad Hatter

RA: fcuk

Deputy RA: BS

Hare razor: Victim

Hash cash: Snoozanne

Hash haberdashery: BS (plus PA)

Webmaster: Victim (plus 10secs)

Hash flash: ET

Hash trash: 10secs

Hash Cymru: OTT

Hash stats: Peter Pong
