

ERSEY THIRSTDAYS HASH HOUSE HARRIERS

Run Number 64 2nd August 2007
The Augustus John Pub Peach Street Liverpool

The Pack: RTFuct (Hare), Carthief, Long Pause, Snoozanne, Leakey Tool. Compo, Carless Whisper, Lilo Lil, Penny Lane

After some rearrangement of the Shitshirt

We finally managed to get a Hash Flash

Back to square one (Run No. 1) and a short cut version of RTFuct set the trail, although there was nothing short about the trail.

The Hare, cautious about our ability to cross a road safely, had set the first Check on the other side of Brownlow Hill. The cathedral drew a few hashers along the wrong trail until RTFuct took pity and called us back. We zigzagged through Liverpool University, past

With signs telling the Hare to clean up and others telling the Pack not to stand on a Check

There was discussion of the meaning of this road name and the owner had to be reassured.

On to the water tower where RTFuct wanted to know where the water was stored. Carthief explained that the water was kept at the top as that gave the best head.

The Trail was marked with an R which turned out to mean Regroup, Return and Right. The Hare admitted that she had not thought to put a R³ in place of the R.

Hopefully the flour was not treated as refuse

Down Spencer Street and into the Rupert Lane Park, with several Regroups and Hash views.

What we were looking at. Penny Lane was able to gleefully point out the spire following puns on inspire and aspire Down through the park to the pond which looks a lot nicer in this shot than it really was.

On through the streets past the local entertainment carefully arranged by the Hare.

and onto the On Inn

Back at the start we rescued the bags from Long Paws's office, the food from Lilo Lil's car and the pans from Snoozanne's

Laying the food out

Snoozanne urged the male members (not their members) to eat the broccoli and cauliflower to ward off prostate cancer (as she called it). Long Paws enlightened us on the use of the prostate and therefore why approximately only half the population has one.

Donning the necessary apparel the Hare / RA asked for a sermon from anyone but Compo but it was not to be and Compo recounted the tale of the two prawns Christopher and Christian. Christopher met a genie who turned him into a shark and then back into a prawn. He told his companion "I'm a prawn again, Christian". At least some of the circle guessed the punchline.

Carthief was called up for exciting the RA with the remarks about the water being at the top of the water tank so that it gives the best head.

Long Paws was spotted taking pictures on Everton Brow. He described the addition to the Shitshirt which was a bottle opener, but because it was more orange the duplication was acceptable (according to Long Paws).

Lilo Lil was punished for confusing Castlemaine XXXX with bitter.

The RA then asked for any other accusations, and Penny Lane seconded by others complained that the Hare had spoiled the fun by calling the false runners back before they had found the Xs.

RTFuct remained in position for the traditional Hare's Down Down.

The winning caption for the photograph was "Carthief casually reaches down to grab a hotdog roll whilst considering what sauce to use" RTFuct awarded herself the cake that she had bought for the winner.
